Dear Mr. Nelson:

Thank you for taking part in WILL 206, "Fundamentals of the Petroleum Industry". Without the support of the fourteen speakers we have scheduled during the semester, the class would not have been possible. About fifty students have enrolled in the course, double the number we projected. The class will continue to meet in Sewall 307 every Tuesday night through April with possible field trips to production or refining locations on weekends or weekday afternoons. We are also working on a possible lecture by Robert O. Anderson, past president of ARCO and author of our book. If you are interested in participating in any of these events, please contact Dr. Vail's office at 527-4888.

All of the students, including myself, found your lecture very interesting. If you have no objections, I will give students interested in writing their papers on your area of expertise how to get in touch with you. Once again, on behalf of myself, Dr. Vail, and Will Rice College I want to thank you for participating in "Fundamentals of the Petroleum Industry".

Yours Truly,

Charles E. Krusekopf
